MONGRONG, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1890 has been made. Our revenue for 1891 is that no loan is raised and that we have an average yearly balance for the next five years, of may $350,000. We are ala most definitely committed to the expenditure of $750,000 for water and drainage during the next five years, secording to estimates made by Mr Chadwick for the works in Victoria, the Peak and Kowloom. If the balance at the end of this year (roughly $450,000) is appropriated for this purpose, there remains an expenditure of $300,600 to be spread over the remaining 4 years, say $75,000 a year. The probable yearly balance we have taken to be $350,000. There would therefore remain $275,000 a year for other public works-not a very large sum but sufficient to permit of mode." rate improvements being executed. The precise way in which the balance at the end of this year is distributed does not affect the calculations. We have simply ast it off against the Water Works expenditure to simplify the explanation.

Now let us suppose that a loan of $1,000,000 is contracted. The money may be applied in two ways-first, for the relief of present taxation; second, for the accolaration of public works, which, of course, if great would involve an increase of the executive of the P. W. D. West have shown above, on the assumptions made, that we shall have, irrespective of what is spent for Water and Drainage works, a sum of $275,000, on the basis of the present taxation, to defray the AUR New Factory has been recently cost of extraordinary public works. If relitted with automatic Steam Ma- $100,000 of this is set aside for the chinery of the latest and most approved relief of taxation, the general house rate kind, and we are well-able to compete in may be reduced from 13% to 10%, leaving a balance of $175,000. If the loan is contracted at 4% and is redeemable in 21 and the utmost care and cleanliness are years, the sinking fund will engulf about 872,000 a year, let us say $75,000. There then remains a net balance of $100,000. We continue to supply large bottles If the expenditure of the loan is spread over four years, 1892 to 1896, we would have in all $600,000 a year for public worker apart from water and drainage. A great deal of useful work might be done with this money; but, as we have said, before a scheme for a loan is sanctioned, the Colony must determine what the character of that work is to be, for unless the prosperity of the Colony increases considerably before the end of 1896, we shall, when that time arrives, be in the condition of having only $100,000 to devote to extraordinary public work -a margin which would, unless another loan were contracted, prevent the Colony from undertaking works of any great magni-

Congul Alabaster thinks there is an opening in China for European shop- wretched and a disgrace to the Colony. keepers to push the retail sale of Western articles and introduce new ones to the markets. The inducements, we fear, are not sufficiently great. Europeans need never expect to compete with Chinese in the retail trade. Even if they managed to make a fair commencement, the Chinese would soon step in and undersell them. We must be content to let the process of gradus filtration go on. On the whole the Chinese take pretty quickly to foreign articles, if they find them advantageous, unless there exists special prejudice against the goods. We are glad to learn that sewing machines are not boycotted in Canton. In this respect the City of Rams, is in advance of the Island of Fragrant Streams. The Chinese guilds, who almost control this Colony: have long waged war against the sewing machine, and they have been pretty success ful in their operations.

We cannot but think that the retirement of Chang Chi Tung was a loss to Canton. Many of his schemes of improvement were crude and ill-advised, but there was motion, and moti n even although the first steps are not in the right direction is a more hopeful eigh than inactivity. Consul Alabaster has a long list of abandoned projects to record—the bund, framway, cotton factory and, we fear, the projected railway are among the number. However, private initiative, always better than agovernmental, has done a little in throngway of progress. The paper factory at Canton is doing good work, and if we are not mistaken Uniton has in this matter scored an advantage over Hong-Mr Alabaster's report. We may note, however, that sometimes even Chinese officials are powerless to kill a trade. The natives found kerosene a great improvement, and although Chang Chi Turg fulminated against it, the trade is increasing, and is likely to still further increase, as the Chineso seem to have made up their minds to have kerosene. The Consul's story, too, of the degeneracy of the usoful match is quite pathetic-how the German supplanted the English, to be supplanted in turn by the Japanese and finally by the Chinese, the quality falling with each change, until it is very difficult to get a good match. He reminds us also that the West River is still closed, and the only hope he seems to entertain of its being gradually opened is that the French may insist on steam communication with the Langshan station-a somewhat slender hope.

The opinion of the Chamber, he remarked, being that of a representative and responsible body, must necessaily carry great weight, and if that opinion agreed with the view of the question taken by the Association the abolition of Sunday labour on ships in Hongkong harbour could not be far distant. It was not the desire of the Association, he said, to place itself in a position of antagonism towards owners; on the contrary, they hoped to have the co-operation of the owners, as well as the sympathy of the kong. As for the effect of an advancing rate of exchange, which he believed would even naily reach 1s. 10d. the rupee in India, and in proportion in China, buyers would be compelled to reduce their rates, the tea mandarins would put on the screw up country, with the result that the disgusted cultivators would become more than ever indifferent as to quality, and in many cases cease to pluck, with the probability that a good deal would be held over by the native Hoogs. The effect of all this would scarcely to felt this year, but it was impossible to look forward to next senson, he said, without the liveliest apprehension. Of course the silver men are too strong to allow of any sensible drop in the price of the metal for a long time-how long no one can safely predict. Returning to the subject of Indian and Ceylon competition with tea, the China merchant said he and his friends felt for more auxious about the Ceylon competition than that of India, not on account of its quality, but simply because the Ceylon planters are such a goahead lot that they will venture, and succeed too, in directions Indian men would never think of. He went on to say that the very latest move on the part of Ceylon teagrowers, that of opening up a trade with Russia, was attacking the China toa trade in its most vital part. In reply to my enaminy as to how that affected them particularly, he was careful to explain that China shippers of tea, although so often losing on their exports to England, invariably made up their lesses in that trade by their certain and handsome profit on their the Russian business, and it was certain that if

Three thousand persons can be fed at one time. On a recent Saturday and Sunday nearly 20,000 p rsons were provided for between the hours of 11 30 A.M. and 1 D. m. From figures obtained from the chef, who is paid 500 dole, a month during the season for his services, some of the principalitems of food consumed during the forty-cibt hours alluded to are here given :- Boefsteak, 14.68 | lbs.; roast beef, 2.350 lbs.; lamb. 650 lbs.; mutton, 509 lbs.; ham, 4 0 lbs.; pressed corn beel, smoke i beel-tongue, a d beef tenderloin, 300 lbs.; total, 18,960 lbs. More than 5.000 lbs, of tish were eaten on these two days. The mest is preserved with the aid of twenty-five tons of ice daily stored in air-tight compartments, Also. on this historic occasion 2 750 pounds weight of fowls and 6,000 quarts of soup were consumed. In the two days there were eaten thirty barrels of Irish potatoes, three barrels of sweet potatoes, three barrels of unious, 5,000 cars of green corn, 15 bushels of tomatoes, 283 cans of American pess, 144 caus of French pess, and 336 cans of mushrooms The amount of bread served and eaten with the articles enumerated was 3,000 leaves. Twelve hundred pounds of butter were used in making the broad palatable, and 8 400 eggs were used on the same d ye, fully one-half of which were esten from the shell and in the shape of omelettes. - After the solid and more substantial portions of this gigantic feast had been disposed of came the dessert, in form of cake, ice-cream, jellies, and other refreshments. Of the fermer 100 bounds of assorted cakes were caten, and en equal quantity of pland, froit, and ci ron cakes. With this 810 pies of all kinds were tossed into hungry stomachs for indigestive purposes; and to make the process of digestion still more difficult, 180 gallons of ice or am were added, together with fifty gallons of punches of various kinds and twenty gallons of assorted Jellies.
